NON-DISCLOSURE AGREEMENT (NDA)

Key Technology (China) Limited plans to disclose specific information on a confidential basis to the party (the Recipient) identified below. This agreement sets forth the terms and restrictions which will apply to that disclosure.

1. Under this agreement, "Confidential Information" is information reasonably related to first disclosed by Key Technology (China) Limited to receipt for a period of five years from the date of the last signature below. But not limited to all drawings, notes, samples and technology documents provided by Key Technology (China) Limited. Confidential information may refer to products, prices, services, projects, inventions, know-how, trade secrets, staffs, shareholders, financial means, strategy, research and development operations, present or potential contracting parties, trade partners, security systems, files, network, software products as well as data bases. "Confidential Information" can be disclosed in written, verbal or other intangible form to the Recipient. Confidential Information also includes information which the Recipient knows or should know to be confidential but does not include information which is or becomes available without restriction to the Recipient or any other person through no wrongful act. Confidential information may be used only for the purposes of Key Technology (China) Limited products developing and marketing.
2. For a period of five years from the date of the last signature below. The Recipient will not disclose Confidential Information to any other person, unless disclosure is required by law. The Recipient may disclose Confidential Information only to those of its employees with a legitimate need to know, and may use Confidential Information only for the purpose set forth below. All materials containing Confidential Information are and remain Key Technology (China) Limited's property, and upon written request the Recipient will promptly return them, and all copies of them, except a single archival copy.
3. This agreement does not restrict either party from developing, improving, or marketing competitive products or services, so long as no reference is made to Confidential Information in tangible form while doing so. It does not require either party to disclose any particular information, recommend products of the other, or enter into any business relationship, nor does it grant the Recipient a license to any of the Key Technology (China) Limited's patents or copyrights.
4. The law of the People's Republic of China governs the interpretation and enforcement of this Agreement. Any disputes arising from or in connection with this Agreement will be resolved through friendly consultation between the parties. In case no settlement can be reached through negotiations, the disputes will be submitted to the China International Economic and Trade Arbitration Commission for arbitration by 3 (three) arbitrators according to the effective rules of the said Arbitration Commission. This is the complete Agreement between the parties regarding the confidential treatment of any information exchanged hereunder and may be changed only by a written Agreement.
